

Waterton is approximately 2.75 hours south of Calgary, via Highway 2 or 22 and Highway 5. It is 30 minutes south of Pincher Creek. Waterton National Park is open year round although services in the winter are very limited. Dive conditions are somewhat variable due to wind along the long reach of Upper Waterton Lake. The dive site is very good by local standards, with convenient parking and a shelter with a stove. The wreck of the Gertrude makes this an above average site appropriate for all experience levels. All divers should be prepared for cool to cold water temperatures and limited visibility throughout the open water season.
